MRS. GOULD'S LIFE TOLD BY FRIEND

Helen Mar Claims to Know of Relations With Cody.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.-The deposition f Helen Mar, who testified before Referee David McClure in the suit for separation begun by Katherine Clemmons Gould against Howard Gould, will be filed in the supreme court today. In her deposition, which will be read to the jury at the trial of the action, Miss Mar described the alleged relations between Mrs. Gould and Col. William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill"), prior to the time Howard Gould married the actress, and professes to have had personal knowl and in this city.

erine Clemmons to Europe, and that the first day out from New York they met "Big Bill" Hawley, who was attentive to them all during the trip across. He drove with them and took them around London. He disappeared suddenly, and they learned later that he had been in a stabbing affair, and had to flee to Paris.

Washington of course, I knew that the people would be only too glad to avail themselves of my offer in time, but I really didn't look for such quick turns from my advertising. Washington only until tomorrow, at which time there will be placed to the credit of Charles C. Rogers, disbursing officer of the District, sufficient funds to meet the current expenses.

This unusual condition of affairs is due to the expiration on November 22 of the $59,000 hond of the disbursing officer, which covers four years. On that date Mr. Rogers accounted for every tent of District money to his credit, unounting to $69,356.8. The Secretary and the right bargain I find for them. FOOTBALL KILLS 11; 98 HURT IN GAMES

CHICAGO. Nov. 25.—The season of "debrutalized" football has a record thus far of eleven deaths and ninety-eight more or less seriously injured players. The season has a week to run. Compared with last season—the first after the "brutal" features of the game were eliminated—there is no change in the number of killed, and only a slight decrease in the number of players hurt on the gridiron.

Of the fatalities this season nine were members of high school and independent teams, while two were college players. Three college players were killed last season and three the year before. The record of ninety-eight injured players is only an freex to the number actually hurt. Scores of minor injuries which, though painful to the victims have not long disabled them, are not included. College players lead in the total of those injured, with fifty-one hurt, and the high schools come next, with twenty-four. Last year 10% were injured and 137 the year previous.
